Electronic tag - letter of intent

Dear Sir or Madam,

The Federal Maritime and Hydrographic Agency (BSH) as the responsible German administration to perform Market Surveillance under the "European Marine Equipment Directive", is prepared to support the winner of the above mentioned tender in performing a service contract for the European Commission, Directorate-General for Mobility and Transport on studying the pros and cons and as well the cost-benefit of "The possible introduction of an electronic tag as a supplement or a replacement of the wheel mark in marine equipment".

Especially, BSH will be available to discuss with the service provider aspects of Market Surveillance as far as related processes are being affected in the future by the introduction of electronic tags.

In the context of the intended tasks, BSH will be available to describe and discuss procedures on spot checks of marine equipment and related effects through the availability of electronically tagged equipment.

BSH is prepared to participate in the evaluation and discussion of the functional and cost-related viability of the proposed solutions for Market Surveillance. If covered by the time frame of the intended project, a practical viability test could be performed during the trade fair "Shipbuilding, Machinery Marine Technology (SMM) 2016" in Hamburg.

With best regards,
by order
